FRONT OFFICE

STUART STERNBERG

PRINCIPAL OWNER

When you speak with Stuart Sternberg about baseball, it doesn't take long to learn that his relationship with the game well precedes his time as principal owner of the Tampa Bay Rays.

From playing baseball, to watching his first game with his father at Shea Stadium, to coaching his sons' Little League team, Sternberg's passion for baseball runs deep. It's that passion that allowed him to see beyond the then Devil Rays long string of last-place finishes when he assumed control of the organization on October 6, 2005, and see that more was possible.

Like a historic, last-place-to-first-place 2008 championship season and 181 wins the past two seasons.

Under Sternberg's direction, the Rays put in place a business plan that turned the organization around in three years. On the field, the team significantly increased its major league payroll and focused on expanding and solidifying its player development operations. By reworking its roster and building training facilities in Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Venezuela and Brazil (the first major league team to do so), the team's minor league system and major league clubhouse has since been filled with dynamic, young players.

The changes off the field have been equally as dramatic. From investing nearly $20 million in improvements to Tropicana Field, to being the first major league team to ever offer free parking (still in place today for fans who carpool), to being selected by ESPN as having the most affordable fan experience in all of professional sports in 2009, Sternberg's fan-friendly approach has been winning over fans.

So has his involvement in the Tampa Bay community. Soon after Sternberg took over, the team established the Rays Baseball Foundation, focusing primarily on youth and education programs in the Tampa Bay region. Sternberg and his fellow team owners pledged an initial $1 million to start the Foundation and the team now encourages players who sign long-term contracts to also support the Foundation. Through grants and other contributions, the Rays Baseball Foundation has invested over $1.2 million in the Tampa Bay region over the past two years.

But the most visible change brought by Sternberg has been a complete organizational rebranding, including a new name, colors, uniforms and icon, a bright yellow sunburst invoking the magnificence of life in the Sunshine State.

From the first moment, Sternberg has worked to make the Rays a regional franchise reaching across all of Central and Southwest Florida. In both 2007 and 2008, the team played regular season games at the Disney Sports Complex in Orlando. In 2009, the team moved its spring training operation to a new, state-of-the-art training facility in Charlotte County where the Rays set the franchise spring training attendance record and sold out eight of 16 home games.

Prior to his ownership of the Rays, Sternberg spent 25 years in the financial securities industry, serving as a partner in Spear, Leeds & Kellogg and the Goldman Sachs Group (from which he retired in 2002).

Sternberg, his wife and four children live in Rye, N.Y.

RAYS DID YOU KNOW?

NEW THREADS

The Rays will wear a new light blue alternate jersey for Sunday home games during the 2010 season. It will debut on Sunday, April 11 when the Rays host the New York Yankees. Manufactured by Majestic Athletic, the new alternate jersey is a Columbia blue button-down with navy blue RAYS outlined in white trim across the chest and featuring the Rays sunburst. The sunburst is slightly larger than the sunburst on the home and road jerseys. Navy trim surrounds the sleeves and collar and extends down the front of the jersey. The player's name is featured on the back in white outlined in navy, while the uniform number is navy outlined in white. The Rays become one of 16 teams with four jerseys. In addition to the traditional home whites and road grays, the Rays will continue to wear a navy blue alternate on selected home and road day games.

MATT SILVERMAN

PRESIDENT

One of the youngest team presidents in the history of major league baseball, 33-year-old Matt Silverman is in his fifth year of overseeing the day-to-day operations of the Tampa Bay Rays.

Under his direction, the Rays have been revitalized, recognized as one of the best-run teams in all of sports and last year were selected by ESPN as the most affordable fan experience in all of professional sports. One of Silverman's most notable achievements was making Tropicana Field family-friendly at the same time he was leading the Rays to the 2008 World Series and enabling the club to post its first back-to-back winning seasons.

After experiencing nine last-place finishes in their first 10 seasons, the Rays 181 wins the past two seasons are fifth most in the majors. Home attendance has increased every season under Silverman and the team's 2009 mark of 1,874,962 was the second highest in franchise history behind the Rays 1998 inaugural season.

The team's rebranding efforts prior to the 2008 season included a new team name, colors and uniforms and have produced the major leagues' largest increase in retail sales. By all possible measurements, from all-time-high television and radio ratings to a surge in team website traffic, the organization's objective to expand its regional reach and become a regional standard bearer is being realized.

To build this regional presence, Silverman decided early on to do things a little differently both on and off the field. On the field, in 2007 and 2008, he relocated a series of regular season games to the Disney Sports Complex in Orlando, expanding the team's reach across Central Florida. And in 2009, the team opened its first spring training camp at Mosaic Field at Charlotte Sports Park, a state-of-the-art facility that has drawn glowing reviews and given the Rays a year-round presence in the southern part of its region along Florida's Gulf Coast.

In their first year in Charlotte County, the Rays set the franchise spring training attendance record and sold out eight of 16 home games. While spring training attendance around major league baseball was down 11 percent from the previous spring, the Rays attendance increased 30 percent.

Off the field, Silverman's emphasis on improving customer service and the fan experience have reinforced with even the casual fan that things have changed. Major capital improvements to Tropicana Field and a refreshed commitment to improving staff preparation and training has greatly enhanced the Rays game-day experience. And the team's charitable work through the Rays Baseball Foundation has invested more than $1.2 million into the Tampa Bay region over the past two years and brought the team and the community even closer together.

Silverman also serves as the president of the Sunburst Entertainment Group, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Rays, which serves as a vehicle to attract events to Tropicana Field. Sunburst provides consulting services to industry partners and enables the Rays organization to make investments in other sports and entertainment-related business opportunities.

Prior to joining the Rays, Silverman worked closely with Principal Owner Stuart Sternberg at Goldman Sachs and orchestrated Sternberg's purchase of controlling interest in the franchise. The partnership and friendship that first developed on Wall Street has now found its way to Tampa Bay and directed the Rays triumphant last-place-to-World Series season in 2008.

In January 2009, Street & Smith's Sports Business Journal named Silverman to its 2009 "Forty Under 40" list honoring accomplished and promising sports executives under age 40.

A lifelong baseball fan, Silverman also enjoys running and writing. The Dallas native holds a bachelor of economics degree from Harvard University. He is a member of the board of the Rays Baseball Foundation, the Hillsborough Education Foundation, and Starting Right, Now. He also serves as chairman of the Tampa Bay Partnership's Council of Governors.

ANDREW FRIEDMAN

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT, BASEBALL OPERATIONS

After just four years as executive vice president of baseball operations for the Tampa Bay Rays, Andrew Friedman has already tread where few baseball executives have gone before him.

Having never won more than 70 games in a season in their first 10 years, the Rays have averaged 90 wins over the last two seasons. Only three other teams in major league history have experienced similar turnarounds: the 1912-13 Washington Senators, 1979-80 Montreal Expos and the 2006-07 Detroit Tigers.

Since he was appointed to his post on November 3, 2005, Friedman has engineered the upturn by assembling a nucleus of young players and key free agents. The Houston native has pulled off nearly 30 trades that have turned over the major league roster and improved the franchise's minor league system. One of his latest came at baseball's winter meetings last December when he acquired closer Rafael Soriano from the Atlanta Braves. Soriano is considered one of baseball's most valuable acquisitions of the offseason.

In 2008, Friedman was named Sporting News Executive of the Year as the Rays turned the baseball world on its ear by winning both the American League East and American League titles. At 31 years of age, he was the youngest to win the award in its 72-year history. Of the 27 Rays players eligible for postseason play that year, 20 were acquired after Friedman's arrival including key free agent acquisitions Carlos Peña, Troy Percival, Eric Hinske, Akinori Iwamura, Trever Miller and Cliff Floyd. Likewise, 32 of the 42 players who suited up for the Rays in 2009 were Friedman's acquisitions.

The Rays current roster features more than a dozen players whom Friedman has acquired via trade: Willy Aybar, Grant Balfour, Jason Bartlett, Matt Garza, J.P. Howell, Matt Joyce, Dioner Navarro, Sean Rodriguez, Justin Ruggiano, Kelly Shoppach, Soriano, Alexander Torres, Dan Wheeler and Ben Zobrist.

A greater emphasis on player development and renewed attention on international scouting are two of the hallmarks of Friedman's tenure as the Rays top baseball official. In December 2008, the Rays were named Baseball America's Organization of the Year and in 2007, in large part due to a farm system widely recognized as one of the deepest and most talented in baseball, the Rays were named Topps Organization of the Year.

Recent drafts have produced 2008 AL Rookie of the Year and two-time All-Star Evan Longoria and 2008 USA Today Minor League Player of the Year David Price.

On the international front, the Rays have significantly increased their presence in Latin America with an expanded scouting staff and new training facilities in the Dominican Republic, Venezuela and Colombia and they are the first major league team to open a training facility in Brazil. The Rays have also expanded their efforts in Europe and Asia.

Prior to assuming his current role in November 2005, Friedman spent two years with the Rays serving as director of baseball development. His previous experience includes two years as an analyst with New York City-based investment firm Bear, Stearns & Co., Inc. and three years as an associate for the private equity firm MidMark Capital.

Friedman received a baseball scholarship to Tulane University where he graduated with a bachelor of science in management with a concentration in finance. He played outfield for the Green Wave before injuring his shoulder.

Andrew and his wife, Robin, recently celebrated the birth of their first child, Ethan Jack, on December 23. They reside in Tampa.

RAYS DID YOU KNOW?

SPEED AND POWER

The Rays set club records in home runs (199) and stolen bases (194). They joined the 1996 Colorado Rockies (221 HR, 201 SB) as the only teams in major league history to surpass 190 HR and 190 SB in the same season. The Rays also set single-season club records with 803 runs, 532 extra-base hits, 642 walks and a .343 on-base pct.

GERRY HUNSICKER

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT, BASEBALL OPERATIONS

Named senior vice president, baseball operations for the Rays in November 2005, Gerry Hunsicker touches all areas of baseball operations. He has been particularly instrumental in helping to establish the Rays international program. Over the past three years, the Rays have created a significant presence in Venezuela, Dominican Republic and Colombia. In December 2008, the team and the city of Marília, Brazil, announced a partnership that includes construction of a training facility, the first baseball academy run by a major league organization in Brazil. In 2009, the Rays also expanded efforts in Asia and Europe.

Hunsicker's experience in major league baseball spans four decades. Prior to joining the Rays, Hunsicker served as an advisor for the Houston Astros during the 2005 season. Previously, he served as general manager of the Astros for nine seasons. He was instrumental in building the team that advanced to the franchise's first-ever World Series in 2005.

After being named general manager of the Astros in 1996, it took Hunsicker only two seasons to transform the franchise into a perennial winner. During this time he formed a nucleus that carried the team to four National League Central Division championships in five seasons. In addition to the four division titles, the club finished second in four of his other five seasons and reached the playoffs as the National League Wild Card entry in 2004.

In 1998, Hunsicker was named Sporting News Executive of the Year after assembling an Astros team that won a franchise-best 102 games during the season.

Hunsicker began his career with the Astros in 1978, then went on to become the minor league director for the New York Mets. During his seven-year tenure, he oversaw scouting and assisted in the major league operation.

Previously, he had been the assistant athletic director and assistant baseball coach at Florida International University.

A native of Collegeville, Pa., Hunsicker received his B.S. degree from St. Joseph's University where he played baseball and was named to the All-Mid-Atlantic Conference team. He also holds an M.S. in management from FIU. In recent years he was inducted into the St. Joseph's Baseball Hall of Fame and Athletic Hall of Fame, as well as the Texas Baseball Hall of Fame. Hunsicker also received the prestigious Torch Award from FIU, recognizing distinguished alumni of the university. Hunsicker and his wife, Irene, have one daughter, Kelly.

JOHN P. HIGGINS

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT AND GENERAL COUNSEL

In 2008-09, the Rays Baseball Foundation proudly invested more than $1.2 million in youth and education programs in the Tampa Bay area. In January, the Foundation also donated more than $50,000 to the Haiti Relief Funds of the American Red Cross and Save the Children.

The Rays Baseball Foundation focuses primarily on youth and education programs in the Tampa Bay region that make a measurable difference in the community. Key contributors to the foundation include Rays owners, sponsors, fans, employees and players.

All Rays players currently signed to multi-year contracts contribute to the Rays Baseball Foundation and its programs. Among the current players who have contributed to the Foundation are Willy Aybar, Pat Burrell, Carl Crawford, Evan Longoria, Carlos Peña, James Shields, Kelly Shoppach and Dan Wheeler.

The Rays Baseball Foundation's programs are detailed below:

All-Star Grant Program ▸ The Foundation aims to foster relationships with regional nonprofits with similar goals. Its commitment is not only to provide monetary support to area nonprofits, but to create partnerships that serve the Tampa Bay community as a whole. The All-Star Grant provides substantial monetary support ($50,000–$100,000) to help fulfill the Foundation's mission. In 2009, the Foundation awarded a total of $145,000 to three local nonprofit organizations through this grant. Girls Inc. and Devereux Kids each received a $60,000 grant, while Big Brothers Big Sisters of the Sun Coast received a $25,000 grant.

The Field Renovation Program ▸ provides new or renovated youth ball fields to communities throughout the Tampa Bay region. Through municipal and corporate partnerships, the Rays Baseball Foundation works with landscapers and contractors to overhaul individual fields. The Foundation determines a field's individual needs on a case-by-case basis. The program does not provide cash grants to organizations or government agencies. J.O. DeLotto and Sons supports the Field Renovation Program as general contractor.

Youth fields renovated under the program:

2009	Norma Lloyd Park	Bradenton
2008	South Brandon Little League	Brandon

Kids who read a designated number of hours can make their way around the bases on a game card and earn prizes along the way, including a free ticket to a Rays game. Game cards and prizes are available at public libraries in Hillsborough, Pinellas, Manatee and Pasco counties. This program is made possible through a partnership with Helios Education Foundation, St. Petersburg Times Newspapers in Education and the public library systems.

Scholarships ▸ In 2009, the Rays Baseball Foundation funded three scholarship programs. One outstanding minority student from the Tampa Bay area was selected to receive a $10,000 scholarship through the Jackie Robinson Foundation Scholars program. The Foundation created the Monte Irvin Scholarship program to provide a total of $5,000 to two minority students residing in Pinellas County. Environmental Education Programs ▸ The Rays Baseball Foundation supports programs aimed at environmental education through two programs. The Foundation partners with Earthwatch Institute, a worldwide environmental research and education organization, to send six local teachers from the Tampa Bay area on scientific expeditions across the globe. The teachers receive a $2,500 grant to bring the lessons learned on their expeditions back into their classrooms. CATWALK RUNDOWN

There are four catwalks located above the playing surface at Tropicana Field. They are labeled the A-, B-, C- and D-rings with the lowest being the D-ring. Any fair ball that hits the lower two catwalks (C, D) is a home run. A fair ball that hits one of the top two catwalks (A, B) is in play. Any fair ball that stays on one of the top two catwalks is a ground-rule double. A foul ball that hits one of the catwalks is a dead ball.

- The D-ring ranges from 59 feet above the playing surface to in CF to 121 feet behind home plate.
- The C-ring ranges from 99 feet in CF to 146 feet behind home plate.
- The B-ring ranges from 142 feet in CF to 173 feet behind home plate.
- The A-ring ranges from 181 feet in CF to 194 feet behind home plate.

In 12 seasons, 103 fair balls have hit catwalks, including 5 in 2009: C-ring (60), B (24), D (18), A (1). Two of those home runs came in the 2008 postseason: Evan Longoria homered off the C-ring in Game 1 of the ALDS vs. Chicago (Javier Vazquez) and B.J. Upton also connected with the C-ring in Game 6 of the ALCS vs. Boston (Josh Beckett).

Four times in Tropicana Field history, a fair ball has hit a catwalk and not come down, three of those in 2008: BOS David Ortiz, Sep 17 (D-ring); BOS Jason Bay, Sep 15 (C-ring); and Carlos Peña May 26 vs. Texas (B-ring). Jose Canseco was the first to do it on May 2, 1999 vs. Detroit (B-ring).

Carlos Peña hit the catwalks 5 times in 2007, most by any player in one season. Alex Rodriguez has hit the catwalks five times, most of any visiting player. All told, 19 different Rays have hit balls off the catwalks in the regular season: Jonny Gomes (8), Carlos Peña (7), Greg Vaughn (6), Fred McGriff (4), Ben Grieve (3), Jose Canseco (3), Carl Crawford (2), Vinny Castilla (2), Travis Lee (2), Evan Longoria (2), Paul Sorrento (1), Bubba Trammell (1), Randy Winn (1), Jared Sandberg (1), Gerald Williams (1), Aubrey Huff (1), Rocco Baldelli (1), Eduardo Perez (1) and Pete Laforest (1).

- Veteran reliever had pitched only 23 innings in the big leagues in the previous 4 seasons combined…has pitched in the majors for parts of 9 seasons, but has never spent a full season in the bigs.
- Finished 2nd in the AL in inherited runners scored efficiency, allowing only 9 out of his 57 inherited runners to cross the plate (15.79 percent), 2nd best in club history behind J.P. Howell's 11.4 percent in 2008.
- Led the majors in one-batter relief appearances, having faced just one batter in 29 of his 61 games.

Putouts plus assists divided by total chances (putouts plus assists plus errors).

On-Base Percentage ▸ (H+BB+HBP)/(AB+BB+HBP+SF)
Hits plus walks plus hit-by-pitch divided by at-bats plus walks plus hit-by-pitch plus sacrifice flies.

Win-Loss Percentage ▸ Wins divided by total games played.

Magic Numbers ▸ Compute the number of games remaining, add one, then subtract the number of games ahead in the loss column of the standings of the closest opponent.

RAYS DID YOU KNOW?

ALL-STAR BALLOTING

Since the first All-Star Game in 1933, selection of the All-Stars has shifted on several occasions between fans and managers. In 1933 and 1934, selection of the All-Star teams was up to the fans, who could vote for All-Stars through newspaper ads featuring official ballots.

From 1935 to 1946, each league's eight managers selected the participants while the All-Star Team managers chose the starters. Balloting for the starting lineups, tabulated by the Associated Press, was returned to the fans from 1947 to 1957. However, a case of ballot stuffing by Cincinnati fans in 1957 prompted Commissioner Ford Frick to make player selection the privilege of managers, players and coaches from 1958 to 1969.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn returned voting to the fans in 1970. Since then, All-Star Fan Balloting has developed into the largest voter participation program in the U.S. outside of state and national elections.

RIGHT-HANDED PITCHER

FULL NAME: Jeffrey Warren Niemann
BATS/THROWS: R/R HEIGHT/WEIGHT: 6-9/260
M.L. SERVICE: 1 year, 22 days OPENING DAY AGE: 27
BORN: 2/28/83 in Houston, TX RESIDES: Houston, TX
CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 2010
ACQUIRED: Selected in the first round (fourth overall) of the 2004 June Draft
SIGNING SCOUT: Jonathan Bonifay (Rays)

X-RAY REPORT

- During the offseason Jeff incorporates advanced Pilates into his workouts.
- With the help of Rosetta Stone, Jeff hopes to be fluent in Spanish.
- Jeff spent some time in Surfside, Tex., following the September 2008 hurricane that ravaged the small coastal city. He wanted to see the destruction firsthand and plans to help in the rebuilding of the town where his family spent many vacations together.
- In spite of his height, Jeff did not play high school basketball. He tried out for Houston's Lanier Middle School basketball team but was beaten out by Emeka Okafor, presently with the NBA's New Orleans Hornets.
- At 6'9", Jeff matches current Orioles lefty Mark Hendrickson as the tallest pitcher in Rays history. Last September 28, he faced Hendrickson at Tropicana Field. At a combined 162 inches of pitcher, it equaled the 2nd-tallest matchup in major league history. Neither pitcher got the decision in the Rays 7-6 win. The tallest matchup ever was on May 11, 2009 at AT&T Park, when San Francisco's Randy Johnson (6'10") faced Arizona's Daniel Cabrera (6'9"), a total height of 163 inches.

2009 SEASON

- Led all major league rookies in innings pitched (180.2) and all American League rookies in winning pct (.684), ERA (3.94), complete games (2) and shutouts (2).
- His .667 (13-6) winning pct. ranks 5th all time among AL rookies with 30 or more starts... also ranked 6th overall in the AL and best by any pitcher in club history breaking James Shields' club record (.636 in 2008).
- Led the Rays in wins and ERA, becoming the first rookie to lead a defending AL champion in those two categories since NYY Bob Grim in 1954.
- Only 4 major league rookies in the 2000s matched his totals for ERA, innings and wins: BAL Rodrigo Lopez (2002), DET Justin Verlander (2006), TOR Gustavo Chacin (2005) and ATL Jair Jurrjens (2008).
- His 13 wins were one shy of the club rookie record set by Rolando Arrojo in 1998...his innings, strikeouts and starts are 3rd most in Rays history by a rookie...trailed Arrojo and Scott Kazmir in those categories.

X-RAY REPORT

- This past January Carlos and his family were in the Dominican Republic during the devastating Haiti earthquake. He had just finished a workout at a gym in his hometown of Santo Domingo when he felt the ground shaking. He recalls the tremor lasting 60 to 75 seconds, and once it stopped he focused on his wife, Pamela, and their daughter, Isabella, who were attending a birthday party. It took him more than a half hour to reach his wife. Carlos and his family feel very lucky and blessed to have been far enough from the earthquake that it didn't affect their family or the Dominican Republic. To bring attention to the disaster and help in the fundraising efforts Carlos gave his time and appeared on a Tampa TV station's telethon which helped raise over $100,000. He also donated $15,000 and supplies toward the relief efforts.
- Carlos and his family embarked on a 34-day trip to Europe and Turkey this past December. Among the cities they visited were Paris, Rome, Venice, Monte Carlo, Barcelona and Istanbul.
- He served as an in-studio host for two days on the MLB Network during the 2009 postseason.
- Carlos is a spokesperson for Big Brothers Big Sisters. Once again this past season he hosted approximately 100 kids at home games while speaking to the kids, signing autographs and taking photos.
- In May 2009 Carlos spoke in front of 400 community leaders, religious leaders and Little Leaguers at the Mayor's Interfaith Prayer Breakfast in Largo. Each year the city invites religious leaders to offer prayers for the community and brings in sports figures to share inspiring stories.

2009 SEASON

- Became the first Ray to lead the American League in home runs despite missing the final 25 games of the season…his 39 homers tied with NYY Mark Teixeira.
- His season ended on Labor Day (Sep 7 at NYY) after he was hit by a CC Sabathia pitch, breaking two fingers on his left hand…he is the first player in the live ball era (since 1920) to lead his league in home runs despite missing at least 25 games to end the season…the closest were Dick Allen in 1974 (20 games) and Jimmie Foxx in 1939 (21).
- Underwent successful surgery in St. Petersburg Sep 10 to repair the broken fingers… during the two-hour surgery, Dr. Doug Carlan inserted pins into Peña's left index and middle fingers…a full recovery is expected.

38 FERNANDO PEREZ

OUTFIELDER

FULL NAME: Fernando Perez
BATS/THROWS: S/R HEIGHT/WEIGHT: 6-1/195
M.L. SERVICE: 1 year, 28 days OPENING DAY AGE: 26
BORN: 4/23/83 in Elizabeth, NJ RESIDES: New York, NY
CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 2010
ACQUIRED: Selected in the seventh round of the 2004 June Draft
SIGNING SCOUT: Brad Matthews (Rays)

X-RAY REPORT

- While rehabbing from wrist surgery in 2009, Fernando wrote columns for the New York Times and the Rays game-day program.
- Fernando's work was featured in the September 2009 issue of Poetry magazine. As a contributor to Poetry, Perez joined the varied ranks of non-poets including singer Neko Case, actor Alfred Molina, psychiatry professor Kay Redfield Jamison and Vanity Fair columnist Christopher Hitchens. During the 2007 season, he wrote a column for MiLB.com. During the 2008 postseason he read Ian Stewart's Why Beauty is Truth: A History of Symmetry. He also enjoys reading American poets Robert Creeley and John Ashbery. He owns a degree in American studies and creative writing from Columbia University.
- Fernando read to kids this past June at the Town N' Country Regional Library to kick off the Reading with the Rays program.
- In January 2009 he participated in "Hot Stove, Cool Music," which benefits nearly a dozen inner-city social programs in Boston and New York. The program was started by Peter Gammons, who combined his two passions—baseball and rock music—to raise money for those most needy.
- He is the highest-drafted player in Columbia University history. In fact, only two players drafted out of Columbia ever reached the majors: first baseman Gene Larkin (Twins, 1987-93) and pitcher Frank Seminara (Padres, Mets, 1992-94). Long before the draft, however, Hall of Famers Lou Gehrig and Eddie Collins played for the Lions.

- Made his season debut Sep 2 vs. BOS as a pinch-runner.
- On Sep 27 at TEX he successfully safety squeeze-bunted home Evan Longoria with the game-winning run.
- Lone multi-hit contest was Oct 2 vs. NYY when he went 2-for-5 with a run and an RBI.
- Batted .245 (12-49) in 17 rehabilitation games with Triple-A Durham, Class-A Charlotte and the Rookie-level GCL Rays.
- Hit .278 (10-for-36) with 3 2B, 2 RBI and 7 BB in 13 games on his most-recent rehab stint in Durham...was 8-for-9 in SB attempts.
- Dr. James Andrews performed surgery in early October to repair the labrum in his left shoulder.

- Hit his 2nd career homer Sep 17 vs. BOS off Tim Wakefield (from the right side of the plate)...followed Gabe Gross' HR for back-to-back shots...he and Willy Aybar both homered off Wakefield, becoming the first switch-hitters to hit homers from the right side off a RHP in the same game since 1969...hit his 3rd homer Sep 20 vs. MIN off Dennys Reyes.

BORN: 8/26/85 in Nashville, TN RESIDES: Nashville, TN

X-RAY REPORT

- Last August, David signed autographs at Campbell Park during the second annual Rays Block Party to kick off a school supply drive. All supplies collected benefitted Campbell Park Elementary.
- In December, David spoke to about 150 youth baseball players at a camp hosted by former player Steve Woodard in Cullman, Ala. He hosted "A Night with David Price & Friends" at Vanderbilt to benefit his Project One Four Foundation and the PENCIL Foundation. In 2008 David started Project One Four to assist multiple charities including RBI (Reviving Baseball in Inner Cities), Youth for Christ, and his alma mater, Blackman (Tenn.) High School.
- David was voted Middle Tennessee's prep male athlete of the decade in a Tennessean.com poll this past January.
- In February 2009 David hosted a bowling tournament to benefit the Nathan Stephens Foundation. Nathan, who was a dear friend of David's, passed away in 2007. The student chosen as "Most Outstanding" at his former high school will receive a scholarship from the Foundation.
- After closing out the Red Sox in Game 7 of the 2008 ALCS, he and a few teammates attended a Barack Obama rally at Legends Field in Tampa, where he had the honor of introducing the future President. Before taking the stage, Obama, Illinois Senator at the time, looked Price squarely in the eye and said he had been watching when the Rays eliminated his beloved White Sox from the playoffs. "I won't hold that against you," Obama said. Then he told Price he had also seen his commanding performance against Boston.

2009 SEASON

- Twenty-four-year-old rookie made 23 starts after his promotion from Triple-A Durham on May 25…Rays were 14-9 in his starts.
- He and Jeff Niemann became just the 4th set of AL rookie teammates since 1980 to finish over .500 with 10+ wins…they joined SEA Freddy Garcia and John Halama in 1999, TOR Mike Timlin and Juan Guzman in 1991 and CWS Britt Burns and Rich Dotson in 1980.
- Was 2nd among major league rookies (min. 20 starts) with a .241 opp avg. …only ATL Tommy Hanson (.225) was better…would have finished 5th overall in the AL, but lacked enough innings to qualify…his 7.15 SO/9 IP ranked 4th among ML rookies.
- Starting July 31, he went 7-3 with a 3.58 ERA (75.1-IP, 61-H, 30-ER) over his final 12 starts of the season…held opponents to a .217 batting average, 5th best in the AL over that span.

BEST WINNING PCT., RAYS ROOKIE STARTERS
Jeff Niemann, 2009	.684 (13-6)
David Price, 2009	.588 (10-7)
Rolando Arrojo, 1998	.538 (14-12)
Scott Kazmir, 2005	.526 (10-9)

- His 7 wins after the All-Star break led the staff.
- Was 3-0 in his last 4 starts including wins over TOR Roy Halladay and NYY CC Sabathia.
- Defeated Sabathia 13-4 (7-IP, 2-H, 1-ER, 2-BB, 5-SO) in his final start, Oct 2 at home, denying the Yankee lefty in his bid for 20 wins…2 starts prior he beat Halladay, 3-1, on Sep 20 (6.2-IP, 3-H, 1-R/ER)…was his 2nd win over Halladay (also July 9), joining Niemann as the only rookies ever to beat Halladay twice in one season.
- Won Sep 14 at BAL to stop the Rays 11-game losing streak.
- Was 8-3 with a 2.93 ERA (70.2-IP, 23-ER) at home, compared to 2-4, 6.24 on the road…

won 5 consecutive home starts June 28–Aug 18 tying the club record also held by Andy Sonnanstine and Victor Zambrano.

- Allowed 2 ER or fewer in 13 of his 23 starts.
- Has allowed only one HR to a left-handed hitter in his career (PHI Chase Utley on June 23) in 129 at-bats…lefties have hit .225 (29-129) off him during his career.
- Was 6-1 in 10 starts against the AL East with a 3.59 ERA (57.2-IP, 23-ER).
- His 17.8 pitches per inning would have been the highest average in the AL, but he lacked enough innings to qualify.
- Allowed only 24 walks in his last 15 starts (90.1-IP) from July 9, after issuing 30 BB in his first 8 starts (38).

X-RAY REPORT

- James was named the Tampa Bay Rays nominee for the 2009 Roberto Clemente Award. This award is given annually to the major league player who combines exceptional performance on the field and is devoted to the community.

- For the third straight year, James and his wife, Ryane, worked with "The Heart Gallery," a traveling photographic and audio exhibit created to find families for children in foster care. The Heart Gallery of Tampa Bay, now in its seventh year, is a collaborative project of the Children's Board of Hillsborough County and Hillsborough Kids, Inc., designed to increase the number of adoptive families for children needing homes in our community.
- James draws the numbers 25 and 44 on the back of the mound before he steps on the rubber each game in honor of his childhood friend Nolan LeMar who was killed in a car accident in 2001 and his best friend's father who passed away. Also on start days he always makes sure not to touch any chalk on the field.
- For the past seven years, James has kept the same workout routine during the offseason. His regimen includes waking up at 5:15 a.m. to start a 3-½ hour workout. He was introduced to this workout by his cousin, Giants outfielder Aaron Rowand.

- On May 6, started the Rays first game ever at new Yankee Stadium and enjoyed his best start of the season in a no-decision…outpitched A.J. Burnett and took a 4-hit shutout into the 8th inning (7.1-IP, 6-H, 2-R/ER, 0-BB, 4-SO)…tied it that inning when Mark Teixeira hit a bases-loaded double off J.P. Howell… Rays won it, 4-3, in 10 on a Carlos Peña HR.
- On May 17 vs. CLE, was forced to bat in the 3-hole after a lineup mix-up, as Longoria was mistakenly listed at 3B instead of DH…went 1-for-3 at the plate with an RBI double…was the first pitcher to be in the starting lineup of an AL home game since CWS Ken Brett on Sep 23, 1976 vs. MIN…became first Rays pitcher ever to bat in an AL home game, and first pitcher ever to bat at Tropicana Field.

RAYS DID YOU KNOW?

RAYS AND THE RULE 5 DRAFT

Minor league players who have played three seasons (if they were signed when they were 20 or older) or four seasons (if they were signed when they were 19 or younger) and are not on a 40-man major league roster, are eligible to be drafted by other major league clubs in the Rule 5 Draft held each year at baseball's Winter Meetings. When a player is drafted, he must remain on the 40-man roster of the team that selects him until the season ends and must spend at last 90 days on the 25-man roster before he can be optioned to the minors without going through waivers. The team from which he was drafted can reclaim him for half of the draft price ($50,000) if he is placed on waivers. A total of five Rule 5 Draft picks have appeared in a game for the Rays: David Lamb (1999), Damian Rolls (2000-04), Steve Kent (2002), Felix Escalona (2002-03) and Jorge Sosa (2002-04).

In 2002, the Rays became the first team since the 1968 Chicago Cubs to have three Rule 5 players on their Opening Day roster and the first team since the 1981 Minnesota Twins to have three Rule 5 players on their roster at any given time during the season. Below are the Rays Rule 5 selections:

SPREADING IT AROUND

With All-Stars Evan Longoria, Carl Crawford, Ben Zobrist, Carlos Peña and Jason Bartlett, the Rays had a different player finish in the top 10 in the AL in each of the following categories in 2009: batting average (Bartlett), hits (Crawford), home runs (Peña, Longoria), RBI (Longoria) and slugging (Zobrist, Peña). In the last 15 years, only one other team has boasted five different players to finish in the AL's top 10 in those categories: the 2005 Yankees with Gary Sheffield, Jason Giambi, Derek Jeter, Alex Rodriguez and Hideki Matsui.

ROBERTO CLEMENTE AWARD, PRESENTED BY JOHN HANCOCK

Since 1971, Major League Baseball has annually presented an award that recognizes a player who best exemplifies the game of baseball through sportsmanship, community involvement and positive contributions to his team.

In 1973, following the tragic death of Roberto Clemente, the award was named to honor the man whose spirit and goodwill will always be remembered. The 12-time All-Star and Hall of Famer was killed in a plane crash in 1972 delivering food and medical supplies to earthquake victims of Nicaragua. The award, sponsored by John Hancock Financial Services, recognizes those individuals who truly understand the value of helping others.

A panel of baseball dignitaries, including Vera Clemente and Commissioner Allan H. (Bud) Selig, annually selects the winner from a list of 30 candidates, one from each major league club. These local winners are announced in September on Roberto Clemente Day. The winner of the national Roberto Clemente Award is announced during a pregame ceremony at the World Series. Past winners include Edgar Martinez, Jamie Moyer, Jim Thome, Curt Schilling, Al Leiter, Tony Gwynn, Willie Mays, Ozzie Smith, and Cal Ripken Jr. James Shields was the Rays 2009 nominee.

RAYS DID YOU KNOW?

RAYS IN YOUR LIVING ROOM

As the team's exclusive regional TV partner, Sun Sports/Fox Sports Florida will produce and televise 150 Tampa Bay Rays games in 2010. Three spring training and 150 regular season games are scheduled for regional television, with the large majority offered in HD. Owned and managed by Fox, both Sun Sports and Fox Sports Florida are available statewide in more than 6 million cable and satellite homes. HD game telecasts are offered by participating area cable and satellite providers on a separate HD channel. The Rays have also been selected for five Fox Saturday games: April 10 vs. New York Yankees, May 15 vs. Seattle, July 3 at Minnesota, July 17 at New York Yankees and Aug 14 vs. Baltimore.

In addition to game telecasts, Sun Sports/Fox Sports Florida will produce Rays Live pregame and postgame shows, preseason and postseason specials and the entertaining Inside the Rays series, offering fans exceptional, behind-the-scenes access to Rays players, who share their personal and professional stories.

ROOKIES IN THE ROTATION

In 2009, Rays rookie starters David Price, Jeff Niemann and Wade Davis made a combined 59 starts, most rookie starts by a defending AL champion since the 1967 Orioles had 66. The Rays rooks were a combined 25-15 with a 4.09 ERA (345.1-IP, 157-ER). The 2009 Rays were 35-24 in games started by a rookie. The 25 wins and 59 starts by rookies both set club records. Price and Niemann became just the fourth set of AL rookie teammates since 1980 to finish over .500 with 10+ wins. Previous duos were SEA Freddy Garcia and John Halama in 1999; TOR Mike Timlin and Juan Guzman in 1991; and CWS Britt Burns and Rich Dotson in 1980. At 13-6 (.654), Niemann finished with the second-best winning pct. among AL rookies in the last 40 years (min. 30 starts), trailing only CLE CC Sabathia (17-5; .773) in 2001.

ABOUT PAUL C. SMITH & AL LOPEZ

Paul C. Smith, a longtime Tampa Bay-area sports journalist, passed away in 2005 at the age of 46. At the time of his death, Paul was the beat reporter for the Rays official website. He also worked as a correspondent for the St. Petersburg Times and on the staffs of the Tallahassee Democrat and Tampa Tribune, where he was executive sports editor from 1990-2000. Paul was a father, friend, baseball fan and consummate professional.

Al Lopez is the only Tampa native in the Hall of Fame. A solid major league catcher whose record of 1,918 games caught stood for more than 40 years, Lopez later found great success as manager of the Indians and White Sox. From 1951-59, his teams—always known as overachievers—won two pennants and finished second to the Yankees the other seven years. His 1954 Indians won 111 games, an American League record that lasted 44 years, and in 1959 he led the Go-Go White Sox to their first pennant since 1919. Al, Ted Williams, Stan Musial and Monte Irvin all threw out the ceremonial first pitches at the Rays inaugural game on March 31, 1998. Al passed away in 2005 at the age of 97.

RAYS INAUGURAL GAME | MARCH 31, 1998

Robert Rogers

St. Petersburg, FL — Hall of Famers Ted Williams, Stan Musial, Al Lopez and Monte Irvin threw out the ceremonial first pitches and minutes later, at 5:08 p.m. on March 31, 1998, major league baseball was born in Tampa Bay as Wilson Alvarez delivered a ball to Detroit's leadoff hitter Brian Hunter (right). Alvarez retired the Tigers 1-2-3 in the first inning, then nine of the next 13 batters hit safely. The Rays fell behind 11-0 in the 5th inning before Wade Boggs hit a two-run homer off Justin Thompson in the 6th to account for the first two runs in Rays history. Tampa Bay rallied for four runs in the 9th and left the tying run in the on-deck circle when Paul Sorrento struck out to end the game. Every starter on both sides hit safely except Rays LF Mike Kelly. Tampa native Luis Gonzalez hit the first home run at Tropicana Field and added a single and double.

RAYS FIRST WIN | APRIL 1, 1998

St. Petersburg, FL — April 1, but it was no joke, the Rays won their first game. In game two of the season opening series, Tampa Bay rallied from a 3-0, first inning deficit and banged out 18 hits on their way to an 11-8 victory. Rookie Rolando Arrojo (right) earned the win in his major league debut and Fred McGriff had three run-scoring hits including a two-run single in the Rays decisive four-run 8th inning. The Rays batted around in the 4th and 8th innings (they batted around four times in the three-game series). Two-out, RBI singles by Wade Boggs and McGriff helped the Rays jump ahead in the 4th inning after trailing 3-2. The Rays got a hit in every inning except the 5th.

RAYS DID YOU KNOW?

ERIK WALKER COMMUNITY CHAMPION AWARD

At the Rays minor league award ceremony last Sep 18, first baseman Ryan Wiegand was named the winner of the 2009 Erik Walker Community Champion Award. Established in 2007, the award recognizes a Rays minor league player who exemplifies teamwork, sportsmanship, and community involvement—attributes exhibited by Rays minor league pitcher Erik Walker, who died tragically October 2006 in a canoeing accident.

Wiegand, a 25th-round selection in the 2009 June Draft, spent the 2009 season at Princeton and was a key participant in the "Energy Express" program—a local summer reading and nutrition program—at two elementary schools in Mercer County. He also helped spread the program to adjoining Monroe County, a hotbed for P-Rays fans, at Peterstown Elementary School. At all three schools, he shared his time and the love of reading with large groups of children. He was also one of four Princeton players selected to be featured on widely-circulated P-Rays mini-posters encouraging youth to lead a tobacco-free lifestyle.

Walker was drafted by the Rays in June 2006 and had just completed his first professional season with the Hudson Valley Renegades in the New York Penn League when his life was cut short on Oct 26, 2006, just 11 days after his 23rd birthday. Each of the Rays minor league affiliates nominates a candidate for the award. Nominees embody the qualities of Erik, recognized as someone who was a great teammate, a caring person and who enriched the lives of people in need and inspired others to do the same. A commemorative plaque and check for $2,500 is awarded in the winner's name to the charity of his choice.

2008 POSTSEASON REVIEW

RAYS IN THE FALL CLASSIC

- Only one team in major league history lost more games than the Rays (96) the year before going to the World Series — the 1991 Braves, who were 65-97.
- Rays were the second team in MLB history and just the 5th team in the four major sports to advance to its league's championship series the year after having the worst record in the league…none have gone on to win the league championship…those that have done it:
  - 1991 Braves: won the NL pennant and lost to the Minnesota Twins in the World Series the year after going 65-97.
  - 1958-59 Minneapolis Lakers: lost to the Boston Celtics in the NBA Finals the year after going 19-53.
  - 1949-50 New York Rangers: lost to the Detroit Red Wings in the Stanley Cup Finals the year after going 18-31-11.
  - 1958-59 Toronto Maple Leafs: lost to Montreal in the Stanley Cup Finals the year after going 21-38-11.

RAYS WORLD SERIES DID YOU KNOW? ▸ Scott Kazmir (24 years old), James Shields (26), Matt Garza (24) and Andy Sonnanstine (25) became the first set of four pitchers under 27 to start for a team in the World Series since 1955…that series both the Dodgers and Yankees started pitchers under 27…Yankees: Whitey Ford (26), Bob Grim (25), Don Larsen (26), Bob Turley (25). .Dodgers: Roger Craig (25), Billy Loes (25), Johnny Podres (23), Karl Spooner (24).

RAYS IN THE POSTSEASON

RAYS SET A.L. POSTSEASON HOME RUN MARK ▸ The Rays hit 26 home runs in their 16 postseason games, most ever by an AL club (prev. 24 by Anaheim in 2002) and one shy of 2nd most all-time behind the 2002 Giants (27)…Rays had 10 different players homer.

- The Rays hit 16 home runs in the ALCS, most in LCS history (prev. 14 by Houston in 2004)…belted 13 of those from Games 2-5, most home runs over a four-game stretch in postseason history.
- B.J. Upton's seven postseason homers tied ANA Troy Glaus (2002) for most by an American League player in a single postseason and were just one shy of the overall mark (8, SF Barry Bonds in 2002 and HOU Carlos Beltran in 2004)…four of his seven came in the ALCS, tying the LCS record…became the first player to hit five or more home runs in the postseason after hitting fewer than 10 during the regular season.
- Evan Longoria's six postseason home runs set a record for a ML rookie in a single postseason (prev. 4, Miguel Cabrera with Marlins in 2003)…four of his six homers came in the ALCS, tying the LCS record…additionally, all four came in consecutive games (Games 2-5), which also tied a LCS record…Longo turned 23 on Oct 7, becoming the youngest player in ML history to hit six or more homers in a single postseason; teammate B.J. Upton is next (24 years, 2 mos)…his regular/postseason numbers totaled 33 home runs and 97 RBI…Longoria homered in his first two postseason at-bats vs. the White Sox in Game 1 of the ALDS, the second player ever to accomplish the feat – also Gary Gaetti for Minnesota in 1987…age 22 at the time, he became the 3rd-youngest player to hit more than one HR in a postseason game (ATL Andruw Jones, 19, in 1996; NYY Tony Kubek, 20, in 1957).

RAYS SET POSTSEASON STEAL MARK ▸ Rays stole 24 bases in the postseason, a new ML record (prev. 20, by the 1975 Reds and 1992 Braves)…Rays were caught just three times in the 16 games.

- Carl Crawford was 7-for-7 in stolen base attempts…he is the first player in the live ball era (since 1920) to start in his team's postseason opener without a regular-season at-bat during the month of September…Crawford also batted 5th for the first time in his career.

105 ▸ With 105 wins on the season, the Rays won 39 more games than they did in 2007, including postseason…that was the biggest increase in wins from one season to the next in modern major league history (since 1900)…the 1890 Louisville Colonels won 61 more games from the previous season (27 to 88) as the all-time high.

ALCS MVP MATT GARZA ▸ Garza went 2-0 with a 1.38 ERA (13.0-IP, 8-H, 2-ER, 6-BB, 14-SO) in the ALCS…he won Games 3 and 7 for the Rays…marks the 11th time that a pitcher won ALCS MVP honors (10th different pitcher)…at 24, Garza was the youngest pitcher ever to win ALCS MVP honors, surpassing Mike Boddicker of the 1983 Baltimore Orioles.

DAVID PRICE ▸ The 23-year-old top overall pick in 2007 out of Vanderbilt University became the quickest top overall selection to play in the World Series…the previous fastest were ATL Chipper Jones (drafted in 1990, Series in 1995) and LAD Tim Belcher (drafted in 1983, Series in 1988)…earned his first win at the major league level in Game 2 of the ALCS and got the final four outs for his first big league save in Game 7 …he was the 3rd rookie pitcher to record a win and a save in the same postseason series, joining STL Adam Wainwright (2006 World Series) and CIN Rawly Eastwick (1975 NLCS, 1975 World Series).

- B.J. Upton, Evan Longoria, Rocco Baldelli and Carlos Peña combined to slug four home runs, tying an ALCS record (10th time), and all four cleared the Green Monster…it marked the first career postseason home runs for both Baldelli (a Woonsocket, R.I., native) and Peña (Haverhill, Mass.).
- Starter RH Matt Garza worked 6.0+ innings strong (6-H, 1-R/ER, 3-BB, 5-SO) and handed a 5-0 lead over to LH J.P. Howell, who then yielded a sacrifice fly to Jacoby Ellsbury, scoring Garza's runner Jason Varitek for Boston's only run.
- Upton's home run, a 3-run shot that broke open a 4-0 lead, was his 5th of the postseason and came in his 28th postseason at-bat…the homer ended LH Jon Lester's streak of 16.0 innings this postseason without allowing an earned run.
- Prior to the Rays nine-run outputs in Games 2 and 3, the Red Sox had never allowed 8 or more runs in back-to-back postseason games in franchise history.

- The Rays suffered their largest blown lead of the season (had not blown a lead larger than 3) and their first loss of the year after leading by five or more runs.
- B.J. Upton, Carlos Peña and Evan Longoria hit 3 more home runs, giving the Rays an ALCS-record 13 in the series and 19 in the postseason…all 3 homers came off Daisuke Matsuzaka.
- Scott Kazmir tossed 6.0 shutout innings of 2-hit ball, striking out 7 and walking 3, and received no decision despite exiting with a 7-0 lead.
- Upton went 3-for-4 with 4 RBI, HR, 2B, BB, 2 R, and his 2-run homer in the 1st inning was his 6th of the postseason coming in his 35th postseason at-bat…he became the 7th player in LCS history to have at least 10 RBI in a series.

FROM WORST...TO THE POSTSEASON

The 2008 Rays became just the second team in major league history, first American League team, to advance to the postseason after owning the worst record in the majors the year before. The only other club to do it was the 1991 Atlanta Braves (94-68) who finished in first place in the National League West and won the NL pennant beating the Pittsburgh Pirates in the NLCS in seven games. They fell to the Minnesota Twins in seven games in the World Series. The Braves had gone 65-97 the year before.

GAME NOTES

- Rays dropped their first-ever World Series game, 3-2.
- Phillies took a 2-0 lead in the opening frame on a Chase Utley home run…the last time a player hit a home run in the top of the first in Game 1 of a World Series was 42 years prior – in 1966 Baltimore's Frank Robinson and Brooks Robinson hit back-to-back shots off Don Drysdale at Dodger Stadium.
- Rays 3-4-5 hitters B.J. Upton, Carlos Peña and Evan Longoria were a combined 0-for-12 with 5 SO…Upton grounded into a pair of double plays in his first two plate appearances becoming the first player in ML history to ground into a DP in each of his first two career PA in a World Series.
- Phillies were 0-for-13 with runners in scoring position, the most AB without a hit with RISP for any team in any game in World Series history.

GAME NOTES

- Game began at 10:06 after a 1-hour, 31-minute rain delay.
- Rays suffered their 2nd walk-off loss of the postseason as Carlos Ruiz's infield single scored Eric Bruntlett for the 5-4 win (also Game 5 at Fenway, 8-7 on Oct 16).
- ALCS MVP Matt Garza pitched 6.0 innings, allowing 4 runs, including three solo homers (Ruiz, Utley, Howard)...he became the first pitcher to allow 3 HR in a World Series game since 2002 (Angels' Jarrod Washburn and Kevin Appier)...for Howard, the ML HR champ, it was his first HR of the postseason.
- Rays erased a 4-1 deficit with a pair of runs in the 7th and one in the 8th...B.J. Upton stole three bases, tying a World Series record (5th time and first since Lou Brock did it for a second time, Oct 5, 1968)...he became the first AL player to do it.
- Marked the first time Rays had ever trailed in any postseason series.

RAYS DID YOU KNOW?

During one of his many offseason bike rides prior to the 2008 season, Joe Maddon was seeking a way to find a tangible message to give to his players to reinforce the idea that the Rays could indeed contend in 2008...thus, 9=8 was born. Essentially, 9 players playing hard every game would permit the Rays to be one of the 8 teams in the postseason. To break it down further, Joe's team goals were:

- 9 more wins out of the defense than 2007,
- 9 more wins out of the offense, and
- 9 more wins out of the pitching.
- 27 more wins than 2007 would likely get the Rays into the postseason, with 93 wins (the team won 97).

- Rays lost 10-2 to fall behind three games to one in their first World Series.
- Andy Sonnanstine lasted just 4.0 innings and lost for the first time this postseason…was the shortest outing by a Rays starter in the series (6-H, 5-R/3-ER, 3-BB, 2-SO).
- Phillies had four homers in the game (Howard-2, Blanton, Werth), one off each of the Rays four pitchers.
- Carl Crawford hit his 2nd home run of the series, giving him two of the Rays three homers to this point.
- Eric Hinske, activated just before the game replacing Cliff Floyd (shoulder), hit a pinch-hit HR in the 5th, becoming the 10th different Ray to homer this postseason.
- Joe Blanton became the first pitcher to homer in a World Series game since Ken Holtzman for Oakland in ▸.
- Through the first four games of the series, Rays batted .187 (23-123) with 3 HR after hitting .252 with 16 HR in the ALCS and .297 with 6 HR in the ALDS…No. 3 and No. 4 hitters Carlos Peña and Evan Longoria were a combined 0-for-29 with 15 SO thru these first four games.

HISTORY OF BASEBALL IN ST. PETERSBURG

This year marks the 91st season in which major league baseball has had a presence in St. Petersburg, dating back to February 27, 1914 when the St. Louis Browns opened spring training workouts in the Sunshine City.

With the Rays moving their spring home to Charlotte County in 2009, this is just the second year St. Petersburg has been without a spring training team since 1945 when travel restrictions during World War II prohibited teams from traveling south for the spring. Nonetheless, more major league spring training games have been played in St. Petersburg than in any other city.

Nine teams have trained in St. Petersburg: the St. Louis Browns (1914), Philadelphia Phillies (1915-18), Boston Braves (1922-37), New York Yankees (1925-42; 1946-50; 1952-61), St. Louis Cardinals (1938-42; 1946-97), New York Giants (1951), New York Mets (1962-87), Baltimore Orioles (1993-95) and the Rays (1998-2008).

In 1910, a former Pittsburgh laundry owner named Al Lang moved to St. Petersburg to benefit his health. He soon became interested in the local economy and focused on trying to help the sagging tourism industry. As a baseball fan, he believed the answer was to attract a major league team to St. Petersburg for spring training.

Lang convinced the St. Louis Browns, under General Manager Branch Rickey, to move to St. Petersburg in 1914. A baseball committee, formed to attract a major league team to the city, raised $20,000 to buy a large tract of land for a ballpark. The site chosen for the field was Coffee Pot Bayou in St. Petersburg, where a 2,000-seat grandstand was built.

The first game between two major league teams in St. Petersburg took place on March 27, 1914 as the Grapefruit League was established. The Browns hosted the Chicago Cubs, who were training in Tampa and made the trip by steamboat across Tampa Bay. The Cubs won, 3-2. James Leslie (Hippo) Vaughn was the winning pitcher for the Cubs as an estimated 4,000 looked on.

The resourceful Lang helped engineer a new ballpark, Waterfront Park, located at the approximate site where the parking lot for Progress Energy Park, home of Al Lang Field is today. A new arrival, the Boston Braves, christened the new park in 1922. The Yankees joined the Braves in St. Petersburg in 1925. They would stay until 1962, when the Casey Stengel and the expansion New York Mets moved in and the Yankees went to Fort Lauderdale.

When the Boston Braves left for Bradenton in 1937, the St. Louis Cardinals came to St. Petersburg the following year and would stay 57 of the next 60 years, missing only the war years.

Minor league baseball in St. Petersburg began in 1920 when the St. Pete Saints entered the Florida State League. By 1922, the Saints had won a FSL crown.

There was one other professional league in St. Petersburg prior to the Rays arrival in 1998. The Senior Professional Baseball Association, a league of former major leaguers who were 35 years of age or older, sprang up for one season, 1989-90. The St. Pete Pelicans were the first and only league champions.

The expansion Mets take the field at Huggins-Stengel Complex in St. Petersburg for Spring Training in 1962.

TAMPA BAY RAYS

2009 SEASON REVIEW

After 10 losing seasons as the Devil Rays, the Rays recorded their second consecutive winning season…with 84 wins, they became just the 8th team all time to win 180 games over two seasons after losing 180 games the previous two seasons. ◆ Rays were 52-29 at home in 2009 following a 57-24 home mark in 2008…in 2009, the Rays played 247 percentage points better at home (52-29, .642) than on the road (32-49, .395), greatest home-road differential in the majors. ◆ Rays set club records in home runs (199) and stolen bases (194)…only one other team in major league history surpassed 190 HR and 190 SB in the same season: the 1996 Colorado Rockies (221 HR, 201 SB)…Rays also set single-season club records with 803 runs, 532 extra-base hits, 642 walks and a .343 on-base pct. ◆ 25 wins and 59 starts by rookies both set club marks. ◆ In addition, Rays pitchers set a club record for fewest walks issued with 515. ◆ The Rays stole 104 more bases than they allowed, the greatest advantage by a major league club since the 1996 Kansas City Royals (+126). ◆ With All-Stars Evan Longoria, Carl Crawford, Ben Zobrist, Carlos Peña and Jason Bartlett, the Rays had a different player finish in the top 10 in the AL in each of the following categories: batting average (Bartlett), hits (Crawford), home runs (Peña, Longoria), RBI (Longoria) and slugging (Zobrist, Peña). ◆ Rays used just 7 different starting pitchers in 2009, fewest in the majors and fewest in club history…Rays starters threw the most pitches in the majors (16,074) and the bullpen tossed the 2nd fewest (7,614) behind St. Louis.

2008 SEASON REVIEW

In their first season as the "Rays," the club became just the second team in ML history (first AL team) to advance to the postseason after owning the worst record in the majors the year before ('91 Braves). ◆ The 97 wins tied the Cubs for the 2nd most in the majors and were the most by a team that finished the previous season with the majors' worst record...the 97 victories were also most ever by a team following 10 consecutive losing seasons. ◆ The Rays improved 31 games from 2007 to 2008, making the 3rd-greatest turnaround in AL history (1946 Red Sox, +33; and 1989 Orioles, +32.5). ◆ The Rays became just the 2nd team all-time to win 95+ games after losing 95+ games (1999 Arizona Diamondbacks). ◆ The Rays became the first team other than Boston or New York to win the American League East since 1997 (Baltimore). ◆ The Rays finished with the best home record in the majors at 57-24 (.704). ◆ Rays lowered their ERA from a major league worst 5.53 in 2007 to 3.82, the fourth-greatest turnaround from one season to the next in modern major league history.

2006 SEASON REVIEW

Became the first team in major league history to lose 100 or more games and have a winning record at home…Rays finished their home season at 41-40 (.506), their most wins ever at Tropicana Field and their 2nd-ever winning season at home. ♦ Dating back to July 1, went 3-33 (.086) away from Tropicana Field, the worst road record after July 1 in modern major league history…the difference of 259 percentage points between their home and road records was the 2nd-greatest disparity in the majors in 2006 behind Milwaukee (.260) and the greatest by an AL team since 1987. ♦ Drew over 230,000 more fans in 2006 than in 2005 (1,372,193 to 1,141,669) an increase of 20.0 percent, 3rd-highest increase behind the Tigers (28.2 percent) and White Sox (26.2 percent) ♦ Set a club record with 190 home runs…became just the 9th team all time with 10 different players with 10+ home runs.

2005 SEASON REVIEW

Fashioned a 39-34 (.534) record after the All-Star break, an improvement of 219 pct. points over their mark before the All-Star break (28-61, .315)…that's the 7th-greatest All-Star break turnaround by a major league team since the first All-Star break in 1933 (excluding abbreviated seasons)…it is also the AL's 4th-best turn-around behind the 1935 St. Louis Browns (+.279), 2001 Oakland A's (+.267) and the 1944 Detroit Tigers (+.222). ◆ During the second half, the Rays played 16 series against teams that were in contention for a playoff spot and won 9 of those series, going 27-24. ◆ Finished with the most improved offense in the majors from 2004 with a jump of 16 points on their team batting average (next closest was CIN with 11 points)…led the majors in most walks allowed (615) and fewest walks received (412). ◆ Finished with a .274 team batting average tying their best ever and 3rd best in the majors behind the Red Sox (.281) and Yankees (.276). ◆ Took the season series against New York, 11 games to 8, their first-ever winning season vs. the AL East champs. ◆ Became the first team since the 1984 Seattle Mariners to claim the AL rookie leader in home runs (Jonny Gomes, 21 who was tied with Oakland's Nick Swisher) and strikeouts (Scott Kazmir, 174).

2004 SEASON REVIEW

On June 26, the Rays became the first team in history to climb over .500 after being 18 or more games under .500...were 10-28 on May 19, but went 26-7 in their next 33 games to get to 36-35...they reached a season-high two games over .500 on July 3 at 40-38. ◆ Thru the first seven weeks of the season (thru May 19), Rays had the worst record in the majors (10-28), over the next seven weeks (May 20-July 7), they had the best record at 32-13...they went 28-50 the rest of the way. ◆ Rays won 12 consecutive games, June 9-22, tied with Houston for the longest win streak in the majors...also lost 12 straight, Aug 27-Sep 10, becoming only the 2nd team in major league history to win 12+ in a row and lose 12+ in a row in the same season...the 1987 Milwaukee Brewers also did it. ◆ Between May 20 and July 3, Rays went 30-10 becoming the third team in modern history to have a stretch of 30-10 or better and still finish below .500.

2003 SEASON REVIEW

Tampa native Lou Piniella returned home and in his first year as Rays manager he led the club to its greatest improvement over a previous year (55 wins to 63). ◆ Were just seven games under .500 after the All-Star break (31-38, .449) compared to 28 games under in the season's first half (32-60, .348). ◆ Played 90 games decided by one or two runs (39-51), most by a major league team since 1993…Rays also played in an AL-high 51 one-run games (23-28), six more than any other AL club and one shy of the club mark (52 in 2000, 26-26). ◆ Finished with 142 stolen bases, 13 more than any other AL club…only Florida stole more with 150…also finished with the 2nd-best success rate in the majors (77.1 percent) behind Oakland (77.4 percent) ◆ Used 51 players on the season, one shy of the club record (2000)…15 of those were rookies…for most of the season, and for the 2nd straight year, the Rays were the youngest team in the majors (26.85 avg. age).

2002 SEASON REVIEW

Became the first team to lose 100+ games in back-to-back seasons since the 1977-78-79 Toronto Blue Jays...the Rays reached 100 losses quicker than any AL club since the 1949 Washington Senators, who lost No. 100 in their 147th game on Sep 23. ◆ For the 2nd straight year, the Rays had the youngest team in the majors for most of the season. ◆ Used 14 rookies and 10 of them made their major league debuts in 2002. ◆ Played a club record 19 extra-inning games (9-10), tied for the most in the majors. ◆ Had 20 games decided in walk-off fashion, 2nd most in the majors...the Rays had 40 losses in which they had the tying or winning run at the plate in the 9th inning...34 games were decided in the 9th inning or later and the Rays lost 16 games after leading in the 8th or 9th inning including 10 with one or two outs in the 9th inning. ◆ On May 2-3-4, the Rays lost three straight games after leading with two outs in the 9th inning, and July 3-7, the Rays lost five straight games in the opponent's last at-bat.

2001 SEASON REVIEW

Became the first AL team to lose 100 games since the 1996 Detroit Tigers, but went 24-23 starting August 10…during that stretch, the Rays most often used starting lineup had an average age of 25 years: Steve Cox (1B), Brent Abernathy (2B), Chris Gomez (SS), Jared Sandberg (3B), Jason Tyner (LF), Randy Winn (CF), Ben Grieve (RF) and Toby Hall (C)…the starting rotation was Joe Kennedy (22), Nick Bierbrodt (23), Tanyon Sturtze (30), Ryan Rupe (26) and Paul Wilson (28). ◆ With the trades of Fred McGriff, Mike DiFelice and Albie Lopez, the Rays became the youngest team in the majors in late July…the Rays played a club-record 16 rookies. ◆ Handed 20-game winner Roger Clemens two of his three losses and were within one out of handing him a third defeat…the last time an AL team lost 100 games and defeated a 20-game winner was the 1991 Cleveland Indians who beat Detroit's Bill Gullickson (20-9) twice. ◆ Went 27-61 during the 1st half and 35-39 during the 2nd half.

1999 SEASON REVIEW

Suffered the most injuries in the major leagues in 1999...the Rays put 18 different players on the disabled list (22 total moves to the DL) after Opening Day...that number doesn't include INF Aaron Ledesma who dislocated his left thumb in the final spring training game and was out until May 12, or Randy Winn who was out from Sep 5 to Oct 2 with a sprained right ankle. ◆ All told, the 22 in-season moves accounted for 863 days on the DL...fifteen of the Rays 25-man Opening Day roster spent time on the disabled list including 8 of the 11 pitchers and four of the five pitchers in the club's season-opening rotation...of the 13 pitchers who started a game for the Rays in 1999, eight spent time on the DL. ◆ On May 22, the Rays were 22-20, 2nd-best record ever by a 2nd year expansion team, but an injury-ridden, 16-day span, May 12-28, left the Rays reeling.

1998 SEASON REVIEW

The Rays finished in the top five in the American League in fielding pct. (2nd) and ERA (4th)…only one other first-year expansion team has ever finished in the top five in its league in either pitching or fielding…Arizona finished 3rd in the National League in fielding. ◆ Became the first expansion team ever to go four games over .500 at any point in their first season when they were 10-6 on April 19…among the four major sports (MLB, NFL, NHL, NBA) only two expansion teams reached four games over .500 at any point in their first season, both NHL teams in 1967: Philadelphia Flyers (15-9-5) and the Los Angeles Kings (10-6-3). ◆ Spent a total of 22 days above .500…only one expansion team had more: 1969 Kansas City Royals with 28. ◆ Twelve wins in April were the most ever by a first-year expansion team. ◆ Won nine straight games against defending American League Division Champs (5-BAL, 2-CLE and 2-SEA).

RAYS DID YOU KNOW?

THE LEGEND OF DURHAM

Legend has it that the "bullpen" originated from the area of shaded grass beyond the outfield wall where pitchers warmed up. The cooler ground was created by the large bull-shaped billboards for Bull Durham Tobacco, a subsidiary of American Tobacco, and the original owner of the Durham Bulls.

RAYS PLAYER DEVELOPMENT MAN OF THE YEAR & SCOUT OF THE YEAR

In the organization's fourth annual awards, Jim Morrison was named Player Development Man of the Year and Kevin Elfering, Scout of the Year.

Morrison, manager for Class-A Charlotte, is entering his fourth season with the Rays and 26th in professional baseball. Last year, in the Stone Crabs inaugural season, he led them to the Florida State League finals and was named by Baseball America as the "Best Manager Prospect" in the FSL in the 2009 Best Tools survey.

Elfering enters his third season as East Coast crosschecker. One of the first Rays employees, he joined the Rays in September 1995 as the area supervisor for Florida. His signees include current Ray Wade Davis as well as former Rays Bobby Seay, Kenny Kelly, Shawn Riggans and Elijah Dukes.

RAYS CONTINUE TO EXPAND INTERNATIONAL OPERATIONS

The Rays Dominican Academy opened in April 2009 and can accommodate up to 96 players. Photo by Freddy Bernar

While baseball remains America's national pastime, it has truly become a global game. Today, more than one-fourth of all major leaguers were born outside the United States, and as a result, the Rays have expanded their global outreach. To facilitate these new international endeavors, the Rays hired Carlos Alfonso to serve as the team's director of international operations and Andres Reiner as a special assistant in 2006. Alfonso joined the Rays after 19 years with the San Francisco Giants. Reiner pioneered baseball's scouting efforts in Venezuela while working in the Houston Astros organization. Reiner helped discover and develop future stars such as Johan Santana, Bobby Abreu, Freddy Garcia, Carlos Guillen, Melvin Mora, and Richard Hidalgo.

It wasn't long after Alfonso and Reiner were on board that the Rays agreed to a partnership with the Los Angeles Dodgers where the two clubs would share Campo Las Palmas in the Dominican Republic, long considered the gold standard for Dominican facilities. Eddy Toledo was hired from the New York Mets organization to oversee the Rays Dominican operations. Campo Las Palmas was home to the Rays baseball academy and a summer league team until early 2009 when the organization inaugurated their new academy located on property adjacent to Dodgers. The complex has two full diamonds and a half-field, clubhouse, gym, covered batting cages, dining area, and living facilities which can accommodate up to 96 players.

In 2007, the Rays celebrated the opening of their baseball academy—dedicated to Andres Reiner—and located on the grounds of the Pirelli tire factory in Guacara, Venezuela, one hundred miles west of Caracas. In addition to baseball fields, the facility includes a dormitory and dining area which can accommodate 42 players. Ronnie Blanco, former general manager of the Magallanes baseball club in the Venezuelan professional league, oversees the Rays Venezuelan baseball operations. In 2007, Tampa Bay players joined together with Cincinnati Reds prospects to form a co-op team in the Venezuelan Summer League (VSL). In 2008 the Rays had a complete team and in 2009 Tampa Bay won the Venezuelan Summer League championship.

Tampa Bay has a small scouting operation in Colombia and the Rays have also signed several players from Argentina.

The Rays and the city of Marília, Brazil, located 230 miles northwest of São Paulo, have built a partnership that will include construction of a training facility beginning in the spring of 2010. It will be the first baseball academy run by a major league organization in Brazil. The academy will be constructed by the city of Marília with additional funding from the national government, and will consist of two full playing fields, two diamonds for youth teams, and dormitories that will accommodate up to 40 players. Adriano de Souza, who was hired in 2008 to scout Brazil for the Rays, will coordinate the academy. In addition to scouting Brazil for prospects, the Rays will also introduce baseball to groups between 7 and 14 years of age in the Marília area. In 2009, the Rays signed their first Brazilian play, Leonardo Reginatto, an infielder who hit .328 in the Venezuelan Summer League.

The Rays have also expanded their scouting efforts in the Pacific Rim, Europe and Australia. Tim Ireland begins his second year as Pacific Rim scouting coordinator. Tateki "Bori" Uchibori, who served as an interpreter for former Tampa Bay infielder Akinori Iwamura, will scout for the Rays in Japan and Korea, while Keith Hsu will cover Taiwan.

John Gilmore enters his second year in charge of Europe and Australia. In January 2010, the Rays signed 16-year-old left-handed pitcher Stepan Havlicek, a member of the Czech Junior National Team, to a free agent minor league contract. Havlicek is the first player signed by the Rays out of Europe. Havlicek will play at Major League Baseball's Australia Academy this summer.

In 2009 the Rays continued a program to introduce U.S.-born minor league players to the organization's Latin American operations. Ty Morrison, Chris Murrill and Ryan Wiegand spent 10 days at the Rays Dominican academy playing with the Dominican instructional league team and getting a firsthand look at the country that produces so much major league talent.

RAYS DID YOU KNOW?

TRIPLE PLAYS

The Rays have turned two triple plays in club history. On Sep 13, 2002 at Toronto, the Rays pulled off the first triple play in club history (L-4-6-3) with Dewon Brazelton on the mound in his major league debut. It was only the 3rd time in major league history that a pitcher was backed by a triple play in his major league debut and the first time since Aug 31, 1919 (St. Louis Browns pitcher Rolla "Lefty" Mapel in the 2nd inning vs. Detroit). The others: Sep 18, 1917 (2nd game of a doubleheader), Pittsburgh's Elmer Ponder vs. the Boston Braves; and April 23, 1895, when Boston Braves pitcher Zeke Wilson started a triple play against the Washington Nationals.

Nearly four years later, the Rays pulled off another triple play, the first ever at Tropicana Field, on September 2, 2006. It took place in the top of the first inning against Seattle. With runners on first and third, pitcher J.P. Howell threw a strike on a 3-2 count to Raul Ibañez for the first out. Catcher Dioner Navarro threw the ball to shortstop Ben Zobrist to get Adrian Beltre, who was running from first on the pitch. Zobrist then threw it back to Navarro to nail Jose Lopez as he tried to score to complete the triple play. It was the first 2-6-2 triple play in major league history.

The Rays have also hit into one triple play, June 11, 2006 at Kansas City. It went 8-1-6-5 when Russell Branyan's apparent sacrifice fly was nullified upon appeal when it was ruled that Aubrey Huff had left 3rd base early on the tag-up. Rocco Baldelli was also caught in the play trying to advance from 1st to 2nd base.

TROPICANA FIELD

Skip Milos

- Originally named the Florida Suncoast Dome, Tropicana Field's 1.1 million square feet include unique design features and fan amenities found nowhere else in the major leagues.
- The venue was opened to the public on March 3, 1990, at a cost of $138 million. It became the ThunderDome in 1993 with the arrival of the area's National Hockey League expansion franchise, the Tampa Bay Lightning. It was renamed Tropicana Field on Oct 4, 1996, in accordance with a naming rights agreement between the Rays and Bradenton's Tropicana Dole Beverages North America.
- The current capacity is 36,048 with the portion of the upper deck tarped. Without the tarps the capacity increases to 41,810.
- Over 2006-07, the Rays invested more than $18 million on improvements to Tropicana Field including the creation of the Whitney Bank Club, major improvements to the interior of the park, the installation of new video boards and a sound system and the addition of the Ted Williams Museum and Hitters Hall of Fame located in Center Field Street.
- Tropicana Field is also the world's only professional sports facility that features live rays. The Rays Touch Tank opened in 2006, and is located just behind the right-center field wall. Through a unique partnership with the Florida Aquarium, there are over 20 cownose rays that fans can touch and feed throughout the game. The 10,000-gallon tank is sponsored by the Pinellas County Visitors Bureau and FloridaBeaches.com and is one of the 10 largest in the United States.
- Tropicana Field is the only major league `park to feature an artificial surface and all-dirt base paths. Only four other artificial turf ballparks have ever featured all-dirt base paths: Houston's Astrodome (1966-71); San Francisco's Candlestick Park in 1971; Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium in the early '70s; and, most recently, St. Louis' Busch Stadium (1970-76).
- The Rays first installed FieldTurf in 2000 becoming the first pro baseball team to play on the top-of-the-line synthetic playing surface. In February 2007, the Rays installed FieldTurf's latest upgrade becoming first baseball facility in the world to feature the company's unique duo filament system.
- Tropicana Field features the world's second-largest cable-supported domed roof (Georgia Dome is the largest). It's made of six acres of translucent, Teflon-coated fiberglass and it virtually supports itself with 180 miles of cables connected by struts. Opposing forces of tension and compression keep the roof in an arc. Tropicana Field's roof is slanted at a 6.5-degree angle, dropping from 225 feet above second base to 85 feet at the center field wall. The slanted roof reduced the overall construction costs and decreased the volume of air under the dome by 16.8 million cubic feet. Accordingly, that reduced the amount of air that requires climate control treatment. It is built to withstand wind of up to 115 miles per hour.
- Though originally built for baseball, there have been 16 other sports and competitive events held there. These include hockey, basketball, football, sprint car racing, gymnastics, soccer, tennis, weightlifting, ping-pong, karate, motorcycle racing, equestrian events, track and figure skating.
- The facility was also home to the 1999 NCAA Basketball Final Four, featuring Duke, Ohio State, Michigan State and eventual-champion Connecticut. The largest crowd to date - 47,150 - appeared at the Aug 11, 1990, concert featuring New Kids on the Block.

MEDICAL GLOSSARY

AC Joint (Acromioclavicular joint) ▸ Joint of the shoulder where acromion process of the scapula and the distal end of the clavicle meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.

Abrasion ▸ Any injury which rubs off the surface of the skin.

Adhesion ▸ Abnormal adherence of collagen fibers to surrounding structures during immobilization following trauma or as a complication of surgery which restricts normal elasticity of the structures involved.

Anabolic Steroids ▸ Steroids that promote tissue growth by creating protein in an attempt to enhance muscle growth. The main anabolic steroid is testosterone (male sex hormones).

Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL) ▸ A primary stabilizing ligament within the center of the knee joint that prevents hyperextension and excessive rotation of the joint. A complete tear of the ACL necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Arthrogram ▸ X-ray technique for joints using air and/or dye injected into the affected area; useful in diagnosing meniscus tears of the knee and rotator cuff tears of the shoulder.

Arthroscopy ▸ A surgical examination of the internal structures of a joint by means for viewing through an arthroscope. An arthroscopic procedure can be used to remove or repair damaged tissue or as a diagnostic procedure in order to inspect the extent of any damage or confirm a diagnosis.

Bone Scan ▸ An imaging procedure in which a radioactive-labelled substance is injected into the body to determine the status of a bone injury. If the radioactive substance is taken up by the bone at the injury site, the injury will show as a "hot spot" on the scan image. The bone scan is particularly useful in the diagnosis of stress fractures.

Bursa ▸ A fluid-filled sac that is located in areas where friction is likely to occur, then minimized the friction; for example between a tendon and bone.

Cartilage ▸ Smooth, slippery substance preventing two ends of bones from rubbing together and grating.

CAT Scan ▸ Use of a computer to produce a cross sectional view of the anatomical part being investigated from X-ray data.

Clavicle ▸ The collar bone.

Coccyx ▸ The "tail bone", a group of four vertebrae that are fused together, located at the terminal end of the spine.

Contusion ▸ An injury to a muscle and tissues caused by a blow from a blunt object.

Cyst ▸ Abnormal sac containing liquid or semi-solid matter.

Dislocation ▸ Complete displacement of joint surfaces.

Edema ▸ Accumulation of fluid in organs and tissues of the body; swelling.

Femur ▸ Thigh bone; longest bone in the body.

Fibula ▸ Smaller of the two bones in the lower leg; runs from knee to the ankle along the outside of the lower leg.

Grade One Injury ▸ A mild injury in which ligament, tendon or other musculoskeletal tissue may have been stretched or contused, but not torn or otherwise disrupted.

Grade Two Injury ▸ A moderate injury when musculoskeletal tissue has been partially, but not totally torn which causes appreciable limitation in function of the injured tissue.

Grade Three Injury ▸ A severe injury in which tissue has been significant, and in some cases, totally, torn or otherwise disrupted causing a virtual total loss of function.

Heat Cramps ▸ Painful muscle spasms of the arms or legs caused by excessive body heat and depletion of fluids and electrolytes.

Heat Exhaustion ▸ Mild form of shock due to to dehydration because of excessive sweating when exposed to heat and humidity.

Heat Stroke ▸ Condition of rapidly rising internal body temperature that overwhelms the body's mechanisms for release of heat resulting in death if not cared for.

Hematoma ▸ Tumor-like mass produced by an accumulation of coagulated blood in a cavity.

Hip Pointer ▸ Contusion to the iliac crest.

Humerus ▸ Bone of the upper arm that runs from the shoulder to the elbow.

Inflammation ▸ The body's natural response to injury in which the injury site might display various degrees of pain, swelling, heat, redness and/or loss of function.

Impingement ▸ Caused when rotator cuff muscles swell and the pressure within the muscles increases, which results in compression and loss of blood flow in the small blood vessels and pain when reaching up behind the back or reaching up overhead.

Labrum (Labrum Glenoidule) ▸ The cartilage of the glenoid cavity in the shoulder. A lip-edged or lip-like structure.

Lateral Collateral Ligament (LCL) ▸ Ligament of the knee along the lateral aspect that connects the femur to the fibula. It provides lateral stability to the joint.

Ligament ▸ Band of fibrous tissue that connects bone to bone or bone to cartilage and supports and strengthens joints.

Lumbar Vertebrae ▸ Five vertebrae of the lower back that articulate with the sacrum to form the lumbosacral joint.

Lumbosacral ▸ Region of low back comprised of lumbar and sacral spine.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) ▸ Imaging procedure in which a radio frequency pulse causes certain electrical elements of the injured tissue to react to this pulse and through this process a computer display and permanent film establish a visual image. MRI does not require radiation and is very useful in the diagnosis of soft tissue, disc and meniscus injuries.

Medial Collateral Ligament ▸ Ligament of knee along the medial aspect that connects the femur to the joint.

Meniscus ▸ Crescent-shaped cartilage, usually pertaining to the knee joint; also known as "cartilage." there are two menisci in the knee, medial and lateral. These work to absorb weight within the knee and provide stability.

Metacarpals ▸ Five long bones of the hand, running from the wrist to the fingers.

Metatarsals ▸ Five long bones of the foot, running from the ankle to the toes.

Oblique Muscles ▸ The two external abdominal oblique muscles on the sides and front of the abdomen that are attached to the ribs and the pelvis.

Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL) ▸ A primary stabilizing ligament of the knee that provides significant stability and prevents displacement of the tibia backward within the knee joint. A complete tear of this ligament necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Quadricep Muscles ▸ A group of four muscles of the front thigh that run from the hip and form a common tendon at the patella; they are responsible for knee extension.

Radiography ▸ Taking of X-rays.

Radius ▸ Forearm bone on the thumb side.

Rotator Cuff ▸ Comprised of four muscles in the shoulder area that can be irritated by overuse. The muscles are the supraspinatus (most commonly injured), infraspinatus, teres minor and subscapularis.

SC Joint ▸ Sternoclavicular joint; articulation of the collarbone with the sternum.

Scapula ▸ Shoulder blade.

Sciatica ▸ Irritation of the sciatic nerve resulting in pain or tingling running down the inside of the leg.

Sciatic Nerve ▸ Major nerve that carries impulses for muscular action and sensations between the low back and thigh and lower leg; it is the longest nerve in the body.

Shin Splint ▸ A catch-all syndrome describing pain in the shin that is not a fracture or tumor and cannot be defined otherwise.

Sprain ▸ Injury resulting from the stretch or twist of the joint which causes various degrees of stretch or tear of a ligament or other soft tissue at the joint.

Strain ▸ Injury resulting from a pull or torsion to the muscle or tendon that causes various degrees of stretch or tear to the muscle or tendon tissue.

Stress Fracture ▸ A hair-line type of break in a bone caused by overuse.

Subluxation ▸ Partial dislocation of a joint. The term usually implies that the joint can return to its normal position without formal reduction.

Tendinitis ▸ Inflammation of the tendon and/or tendon sheath, caused by chronic overuse or sudden injury.

Tendon ▸ Tissue that connects muscle to bone.

Tibia ▸ Larger of the two bones of lower leg and the weight-bearing bone of the shin.

Transverse Process ▸ Small lateral projection off the right and left side of each vertebra that functions as an attachment site for muscles and ligaments of the spine.

Trapezius ▸ Flat, triangular muscle covering the posterior surface of the neck and shoulder.

Ulna ▸ Forearm bone that runs from the tip of the elbow to the little finger side of the wrist.

Ulnar Nerve ▸ Nerve in the elbow commonly irritated from excessive throwing.
